Automation

Electric garage doors offer many benefits, and the increase in accessibility and convenience is just part of their appeal. They also assure high levels of security; once you choose an electric garage opener you will no longer require keys or handles that can be forced open.

We install automated and electric garage doors from leading manufacturers including; CDC - The Corporate Door Company, Garador, Hormann, CarTeck, Novoferm and more. High quality electric operators offer greater convenience and enhanced levels of home security compared to manual garage doors.

Roller Garage Doors

Roller garage doors can be an ideal solution for homes with short driveways, or in any situation where you require as much space as possible in your garage. Roller doors are mounted on vertical tracks that run up and down the side of the door – a neat and compact design that is perfect for many homeowners. As the door opens, it rolls up until it is safely stored in its own barrel-like compartment at the top of the garage's internal opening.

G.R.P. Garage Doors

Hardwearing and durable GRP (Glass Reinforced Polyester) or fiberglass garage doors are renowned for their stability, strength and resilience. They are lightweight and durable enough to withstand rust, splitting or rot and can endure harsh weather conditions, as well as minor bumps and knocks. They're perfect for recreating stunning designs that are typically made from wood but are more affordable and without any of the maintenance concerns.
